

Quality policy

Our goal is to ensure absolute top quality on a sustainable basis. This goal means that we won't make any compromises on quality when it comes to production and processing. The quality of our products sets standards amongst our competition.

Our customers know that we deliver top-quality products. This - combined with our close working relationship with our customers - forms the basis for 100% customer satisfaction.

We see the stipulations of the relevant standards as the absolute minimum performance requirements to be achieved by our products. Quality stability requires ongoing improvements and further developments with regard to both efficiency and value analysis.

Top quality can only be achieved if faults are kept to an absolute minimum. With this in mind, it makes sense not only to correct faults which have already occurred but also to use sophisticated processes and procedures to prevent faults from occurring in the first place. This can only be reliably achieved in a clean environment with clean work stations.

Only content employees perform to the best of their ability. Our HR policy therefore specifically aims to positively influence the motivation and satisfaction of our employees by ensuring pleasant working conditions. The development of our personnel should ensure the future success of the company.

Our customers demand top-quality products. To achieve this, we need to be able to depend on our suppliers. Constant communication means that we're in a position to embrace current market conditions and use them to our advantage.

This is necessary because you have to be forward-thinking to enjoy long-term market success. We need to generate profit in order to enable us to continue to set standards for quality and performance in the future. This is the only way for us to meet the expectations of our customers.

But quality and the pursuit of profit alone are not enough when it comes to foresight and understanding the needs of our employees, customers, and business partners. This is why a high value is placed on social responsibility and sustainability by our management. This policy earns us respect for our company's exemplary conduct and social contribution.
